COTTON IS FAIR SAYS REPORT

Summary Issued By The Department Of Agriculture

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 18—Crop and weather conditions in Southern states during the week ending yesterday were summarized by the department of agriculture today as follows:

The well rooted cotton in Texas made excellent growth, but the later planted in the northwestern portion of the state was injured by the hot, dry weather. Weeds were less active. The warm dry weather favored rapid growth in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, though it remained too wet in some northern portions of Arkansas and there is much small cotton in that state, with stands irregular in Oklahoma and plants generally small in Louisiana.

Progress and condition were fair to very good in Tennessee and growth was satisfactory in Mississippi by reason of warmth and abundant sunshine. The temperature was favorable in Alabama. The plants made rapid growth in Georgia.

In Florida and the Carolinas growth was rather satisfactory. Reports show weevils increasing in the southeastern portion of the belt and Tennessee reports this pest for the first time.

Late planted corn shows a good stand in Kentucky. Rain is needed for this crop in Texas, but in the central and east gulf states satisfactory progress was noted.

With better weather conditions, oats showed improvement quite generally from the Mississippi eastward. Rice made satisfactory advance in Louisiana and good progress was reported in the southeastern states.

Potatoes made good progress in the eastern portion of the country. Corn and garden crop weather conditions were favorable as a rule in the southeast. Tobacco shows a good

Wykers Arrive In Glasgow, Scotland

A cablegram has just been received here from Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wyker, announcing their safe arrival in Glasgow, Scotland. The message was received by J. W. Wyker and read "safe and happy." Mr. and Mrs. Wyker are in Glasgow to attend the world Sunday school convention now in progress in that city. At the close of the convention which is to last ten days—Mr. and Mrs. Wyker will visit England and the continent of Europe returning home from Naples this fall.

TRIAL POSTPONED

MOBILE, June 18—Trial of United States District Attorney Boyles, on charges of attempting to influence an officer, scheduled for Friday, was ordered continued until August 4 today, following the report of State Solicitor Chamberlain that William Holcombe Jr., deputy sheriff, complainant and chief witness, was absent from the city. The continuance was granted by Judge Ervin.

GREAT SILK EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY AT THE COMMERCE AUDITORIUM

Hours 2:00 To 4:00 And 7:30 To 9:00 P. M., To Be Observed, Farm Party 21st.

Under the supervision of Mrs. E. R. Wright a display of silk manufacturers is being shown at the chamber of commerce auditorium the equal of which is not to be found in the entire south. Albany-Decatur while being the only cities in the south to boast of a silk mill has added laurels to this display from one of the largest manufacturers in the east.

On Tuesday the special trunks and metallic boxes containing the exhibit arrived at the chamber of commerce and a force was immediately set to work to properly arrange the display. Commenting on the display Mr. Wright, local manager of the Alabama Textile company had to say "It is difficult to place any value upon many of the pieces for the reason that they are priceless and cannot be duplicated."

After considerable negotiations between Mr. Wright and W. J. Meininger the exhibit has been secured and the general public is invited to inspect it. Regarding the hours that the auditorium will be thrown open for the use of the general public, Mr. Meininger had the following to say, "The exhibit will be under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Wright and its first showing will be made Thursday, June 19th. There will be showings for an entire week, each day from the hours of 2 to 4 in the afternoon and in the evening from 7:30 until 9. The only morning showing will be made on Saturday June 21st for the benefit of the out of town people."

The exhibit is heavily insured against loss and is obtained by the courtesy of the Schwarzenbach-Huber company of West Hoboken, N. J. It shows the silk industry from the planting of the mulberry trees on which the worms feed, the methods of feeding the worms, grading the cocoons, reeling every point of construction from that time until ready for sale for "Milady's wardrobe."

Eight woven pictures are shown in different designs, showing how the pattern is laid out on point paper and the preparatory mounting on the loom. One of these designs alone is valued at $600.00. A majority of the exhibit, prints and woven pictures were made in Switzerland and are over 200 years old. The picture of Mr. Schwarzenbach, founder of the company is valued at $1,000.00 and cannot be replaced. The picture of William Tell is the largest and has attracted much attention in exhibits in New York.

The display is valuable along educational and instructive lines and it is expected that large crowds daily will call at the auditorium at the appointed hours.

PREDICTS DEMISE OF TWO MAJOR PARTIES

(Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18—Prediction that the farmer-labor party will eventually dispose of the two capitalistic parties that hold power today was made by State senator Charles B. Taylor of Montana, in an address today, formally accepting the permanent chairmanship of the national farmer-labor-progressive convention here.

Mr. Taylor severely criticized the democratic and republican parties and issued an appeal to farmers and workers to unite more closely for political action and urged a ballot box revolution.

He greeted the delegates "the name of thousands upon thousands of bankrupt farmers, farmers who, during the past few years, have lost their all, in the name of the constantly increasing number of unemployed, and the workers of this nation."

"Out of this historical convention," said Mr. Taylor, "is destined to grow the great mass, class farmer-labor party, a party that in a few short years will dispose of the two capitalistic parties that hold the power today and take over the power in this section in the name of the workers and producers of the realm, setting up a government of the workers, for the workers, and by the workers."

Mr. Taylor criticized the recent republican convention at Cleveland, in which he said "sat Harry Daugherty and the representatives of the burglars who stole millions from the people, while our boys were making the world safe for democracy; sat Mellon, the arch-bootlegger of the age, sat those who waxed fat and grew rich from the labor of the babies in our industry. In a few days more the other party of the international banking and industrial organization will meet in the very citadel of international capitalism and there ratify a platform and name candidates elected for them by the second international of capitalism. Men like Doheny and Murphy and McAdoo and A. Mitchell Palmer, men who stole millions while the republicans stole thousands."

"So we do not need to worry so much about who are sitting with us, providing that they are pledged to the ending of the system that enthralled us."

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE WILL OPEN SEASON SATURDAY, JUNE 28

Circuit To Be Made Up Of Four Teams, The Meeting Decides

PLAYERS SIGN THEIR CONTRACTS

Local Fans Promised Real Baseball By Representatives

The Y. M. C. A. Industrial league, composed of four local teams, will get away to a flying start on Saturday, June 28, when the league will open officially at Malone park with a double header. The Alabama Power company will meet the Louisville and Nashville shops in one game and the Albany-Decatur Daily playing the Decatur Cornice and Roofing company in the other.

According to a preliminary schedule adopted Tuesday evening, at a meeting of representatives of the four clubs at the Y. M. C. A., each team will play three games every two weeks. Single games will be played on each Tuesday and all four teams will participate in double headers on Saturdays.

Enthusiasm for the league was strong at the meeting Tuesday evening and local fans were promised a fast local circuit. Contracts are being prepared and will be furnished the teams within a day or two and the job of signing players will begin.

There are a number of college players in and about the Twin Cities and they will be signed. The Decatur Cornice and Roofing company is said to have several stars for its squad, and that plant likely will be the dark horse of the race.

After some debate it was decided not to require any of the teams to recruit their players from the personnel of the plant represented. Representatives took the position that this would be too great a handicap on the league. It was decided to permit each team to organize its playing strength as it saw proper, in order that the league might be fast enough to maintain interest on the part of the fans.

It was pointed out that fans would rally to the support of a city league, if good baseball was played. Representatives of each team were given wide-open opportunities to get the best talent available, wherever it could be found.

Another meeting was called for Friday evening, when representatives of the teams will meet with a number of Twin City business men, who will be asked to lend their moral support to the enterprise. At this meeting the constitution and by-laws are expected to be adopted also.

The chamber of commerce and the Kiwanis club will be asked for their support and every effort will be made to make the opening day a big success.

MCADOO CAMPAIGN ENTERS UPON ITS FINAL LAP TODAY

He Will Arrive During Afternoon To Lead His Proponents

WALSH BOOMED FOR CHAIRMAN

Boom Also Is Launched For David Houston By Judge Cockrell

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 18—The campaign of William G. McAdoo for the democratic nomination for President enters on its final phase with his arrival from Los Angeles today to take advisory charge of his forces. Several thousand, it is anticipated, will be at the depot to greet Mr. McAdoo who will be accompanied by his wife and two daughters.

The welcoming delegation will form a parade and conduct the former secretary of the treasury to the hotel Vanderbilt, which will be his home during the convention. He has engaged the suite formerly occupied by Enrico Caruso.

National committeemen already in town are displaying a decided sentiment in favor of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, leader in the oil lease investigation as permanent chairman of the investigation.

It is generally agreed that inasmuch as the oil scandals are virtually certain to be one of the chief issues of the campaign, it would be a wise move to capitalize the Montana senator's nationally known connection with the investigation.

There is also the feeling that it behooves the party to show Walsh its appreciation of his efforts.

Members of the democratic national committee let it be known last night that Homer S. Cummings, often mentioned as the chairmanship of the committee on rules, was virtually certain to be chosen chairman of the committee on resolutions, unless unexpected opposition develops.

In the camp of both Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith indifference is expressed as to their result of the fight which may be provoked by the proposals to do away with the traditional two thirds rule.

It is no secret, however, that certain of the McAdoo leaders would be pleased if the convention should adopt a rule providing for the nomination of a candidate by a majority rule. On the other hand the followers of Governor Smith, as well as the sponsors of several of the less prominent candidates, seem bent on doing all in their power to have the two thirds rule retained.

A boom for David F. Houston, former secretary of the treasury and secretary of agriculture, has been started by Judge Ewing Cockrell, of Warrenburg, Mo., son of the late United States Senator Cockrell. Headquarters for former Governor James Cox, James W. Davis, Senator Underwood and Governor Smith will be opened today at the Waldorf Astoria, where the national democratic committee has its headquarters.

Clubhouse To Be Opened About 4th

On or about July 4 the membership of the Valley Country club of the Twin Cities is expected to open its newly remodeled club house and keep "open house" for a week, it was announced by Charles Rountree, president of the club.

About a dozen men are now at work putting the finishing touches on the golf course, and on other sections of the 80 acre farm of the club.

Carpenters are hurrying forward the work on the club house as are the painters and directors employed by the organization.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the Republican Vice-Presidential nominee, will actively support her husband during his campaign.

FUNERAL HELD FOR SHOOTING VICTIM

With Judge William T. Lowe of the Morgan County court at Elkmont Springs, unless Solon Grubbs, makes a special request for a preliminary trial in connection with the charge of murder now held against him, it is likely Grubbs will remain in the Morgan County jail, where he now is, until September 1 when the grand jury of the county is expected to assemble.

So far as known now, Grubbs has not made any effort to secure counsel, stated T. C. Almon, county solicitor.

Funeral services for John H. Horton, who was killed on Second avenue Monday evening, and in connection with which Grubbs is held for murder, occurred at the family residence on 5th avenue South, Tuesday evening. The services were conducted by Rev. A. L. Mathison, pastor of the Ninth street Methodist church.

Interment was announced to occur in the city cemetery this afternoon.

FIVE REPUTABLE MORGAN COUNTY FARMERS READY FOR SATURDAY

"We Will Be Here Bright And Early" Is Word Passed On Street

If the word of five reputable Morgan County farmers is any indication of what's coming off Saturday, June 21st, then "Howdy-Howdy" day is going to be one of the finest in the history of Albany-Decatur. Dropping into town ahead of scheduled time these farmers stated that they would be back Saturday to attend the complimentary parties that have been arranged for them on that day and that they would be here bright and early so that nothing on the program for the day would be missed.

The chamber of commerce sent out on last Saturday three thousand tickets for the farmers use admitting them absolutely free to the Princess and Star theaters from the hours of one to six in the afternoon. It is an excellent opportunity for the farmer of northern Alabama to get into town and relax from the heavy days labor that comes with the early summer crop planting and yield. Secretary Meininger has worked day and night to make Saturday a gala occasion and the entire expense is falling on the chamber of commerce. This organization is here primarily to cement the relation of the rural and townspeople

WOMEN TO SPEAK MINDS FREELY ON CONVENTION FLOOR

Great Influence To Be Exercised At Party Gathering

VOTING STRENGTH OF WOMEN IS 462

Delegates, As Buyers, Will Receive Sales Talks For Smith

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 18—Women delegates and committeewomen to the democratic convention next week announced today that they would not operate as a woman's bloc and would function as individuals, rather than as women.

Predicting that the feminine democrats will exercise a greater influence on their convention than did their sisters at the Cleveland republican gathering, Mrs. Emily Hewell Blair, vice chairman of the democratic national committee said that the women would express their opinion on the convention floor without fear or favor.

The total voting strength of the women will be 462 quite a number of the women members already having arrived.

Tammany, it is announced, is organizing a mixer campaign, with the design of selling Governor Smith to the convention delegates. The delegates are to be looked upon as buyers, to whom the Tammany salesmen will extol their candidate.

Groups of Tammany members will mix with the visiting delegates in leisure hours and serve as hosts to groups or individuals on every possible occasion.

BROTHERHOOD OFFICIAL GIVES TANLAC CREDIT FOR RESTORING HEALTH

Oldest Member Of B. R. T. South Of Ohio Keeps Medicine In Medicine In His Family Medicine Chest.

E. Walter Tripp, 324 Healey Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., legislative representative Brotherhood Railway Trainmen, and oldest member of the Brotherhood south of the Ohio River, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the medicine that has proved of such great benefit to him.

Mr. Tripp was formerly freight and passenger conductor on the Seaboard, W. & A., Southern and A. & W. P. He numbers his railroad friends by the score and is also a popular fraternal order man. Mr. Tripp has also served as assistant collector internal revenue Northern district of Georgia, and is now a publisher and editor.

"I have not been without Tanlac in my medicine chest in 8 years," said Mr. Tripp, "but I have had two experiences with it that stand out especially in my history. Once when I came in from my run with my stomach all upset and my digestion just about wrecked, Tanlac proved effective and I began to swear by it. Again following an accident that kept me down to a mere shadow of myself, I turned to Tanlac and it built my weight right up and gave me back all the energy and strength I ever had."

"Not only has Tanlac helped me, but

If you are neglecting to take advantage of the opportunities the want columns are offering you, you are throwing away a key which might unlock the door which leads to additional income. Can you afford that?

I know so many of the brother trainmen who have benefited by it that I often call Tanlac the railroad man's best friend."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

AMERICAN ATHLETIC GIRLS TO MEET LOCAL TEAM ON THURSDAY

The American Athletic Girls, said to be one of the fastest female baseball clubs in America, will meet a picked team here Thursday afternoon at Malone park, for the benefit of the Albany-Decatur Concert band. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

Local stars Wednesday afternoon were out rehearsing for Thursday's activities. The locals will be led by Gordon McDuff, former manager of the pennant winning Twins in the Alabama-Tennessee league. He announced his tentative line-up today as follows:

VISITS THE JAIL AND IS GIVEN A CELL

Elmer Extrikin, resident of the Somerville community, came to the Morgan County jail to see about making bond for a relative, Eula Moore, of the same section who was charged with burglary and was himself given a cell on instructions of the county solicitor, while officers investigate further the burglary story.

Sometime ago Moore and Silas Blevins, of Somerville, were placed in the county jail on a charge of burglary. This week Silas Blevins is said to have confessed to authorities that he knew where $100 of the $141.00, said to have been stolen, was secreted and that if Deputy Poole would go with him, Blevins would lead him to the money. Mr. Poole took Blevins in his car and the men rode to Somerville, near which place, Blevins went into a house and took $100 from a pair of pants that were hanging on the wall of one of the rooms.

The money was secreted in the bottom hem of the garment. A large pistol was also "unearthed" by Blevins. It had been fastened to a wire and was found hanging down between the ceiling of the room and the weather boarding of the house. Blevins claimed he was given the money by Moore and Extrikin, hence the detention of the latter.

One hundred dollars or more is said to have been taken from the home of Daniel Speigel, who lives near Somerville. The money and pistol are being held by authorities.

Late today Silas Blevins made bond and was released from jail.

WEAK AND NERVOUS

Georgia Lady Says She Has Grown Stronger by Taking Cardui—Thoroughly Convinced of Its Merits.

Clyattville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Copeland said: "I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardui, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me."

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go, and suffered... I had a friend who told me of Cardui, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardui has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others. It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill. Sold everywhere. NC-169

From Pig Iron to Pompano

FROM PIG IRON to pompano, from shoes to satsumas—the Louisville & Nashville Railroad transports practically every known commodity and luxury from the places where they are plentiful to the places where they are scarce; thus adding to the comfort, as well as to the profit, of both the shipping and the receiving communities.

These figures showing the freight tonnage handled by the L. & N. in 1923, are interesting and instructive: 1,600,000 cars of freight, 4,380 cars a day; 57,460,190 tons of freight—157,425 a day.

The reader may form some idea of the practical service being rendered to the American people by considering the articles and commodities of every-day use from the viewpoints of where the raw materials come from and where the finished products are made ready for the consumer.

Look about your home or your office; turn the subject over in your mind when you sit down to dinner today. How many of the necessities and luxuries of life would be yours without the modern transportation systems of America—the finest and most efficient in any country on the face of the globe?

Such popularity must be deserved

WHETHER it's tennis or cigarettes or anything else, popularity is no stroke of luck. No champion ever held his laurels except by making good. No cigarette ever held popular favor except by deserving it.

The popularity of Chesterfields is an outstanding example. For months now they have been drawing over 1000 smokers a day away from other cigarettes. Surely this is proof of their quality and good taste.

There is one thing that may interest the lazy;
 they will never have to pay income taxes.

Close-mouthedness may be good for self control, it does, but consider the loss of pure happiness involved in such a policy.

One of the best reasons for having good teeth is that they encourage smiles.

Wingenuous and plausible explanations are the rock in trade of the inefficient.

Those who keep up with their work seldom complain of being overworked.

The Cleveland meet was a success in one respect was a good Vice-presidential convention.

Socrates said: "My pleasure lies in seeing that myself grow better day by day." At last, where Dr. Coue got his little phrase, has been discovered.

Modern conveniences are making the world so small that some are in danger of being crowded the earth.

There is no such word as "success" for the community that resents suggestions as to improvements. There is not such a community in the Tennessee Valley.

"Money talks" means that those who handle the money speak with authority. In other words the authoritative voices of the nation belong to those who have the say-so as to how money is spent.
 The larger the sums of money controlled by men the more important are the words of those men. In this connection as touching the sentiment of the country regarding the continuation of the efforts to suppress the sale and use of whisky, the words of the General Superintendent of the great steel plants at Ensley, Birmingham are of interest. To make a long story short the spokesman referred to, speaking for the Steel Corporation says that whiskey must go. In a recent speech to foreman of the Ensley plants, not for the consumption of the general public, but for the guidance of the foreman spoken to and the men under them the General Superintendent declared that the importation of liquors into the plants meant inefficiency, danger and death, and that the 300 foreman addressed would be looked to, to stop the trade in spirits. The speaker intimated that it meant the loss of their jobs for such foremen as failed to cooperate in the fight on Barleycorn.

It is well when hearing the easy going and irresponsible talk about return of Barleycorn to recall what this General Superintendent thinks and proposes to do about the efforts at a "come-back" by Barleycorn and his ill guided friends. Prohibitionists made the laws against whiskey possible, but it was big business that "put the lid on" and it is big business for the sake of efficiency, if for no other reason, that will keep the lid on John Barleycorn.

The voices of the night that say whisky will return, are as the voice of one crying in the wilderness—they are alone and powerless. The plea of Samuel Gompers, if he did speak for the laboring people in that particular which he does not, would not be heard far, as efficiency and business reasons must and will come before mere desires of the beer-thirsty for something to drink.

"The Town Creek Messenger," with Rev. J. W.
 Curl, former pastor, as editor, appears this month for the fifth time as a twelve-page paper, size twelve by eight inches, and the magazine is thoroughly good from cover to cover. The monthly is published by the Town Creek Methodist people, with the aid and cooperation of all the people of good will of that thriving community. The biggest advertisement in the paper among dozens of others is one calling the people to church services.
 The ad writer declares among other things "The people of our community, who make the greatest contribution to the culture of the community go to church." The ad ends by inviting all to 'church', no particular church being named. Evidently the church people of Town Creek made it unanimous in extending an invitation to public worship.

In his "leader" editorial Rev. Curl makes the following clear and tactful call to duty:

"This is a community of great good people,
 but after all are we doing our very best?
 Have we the courage of our conviction in regard to the things that mean for the betterment of the moral conditions in our town and community? If we are to be a people whom God can trust, we must endeavor to right every wrong in our midst. First of all, we must find out what God wants us to do and then do it or die. Evil has not been driven from our country by any means. There is no time to rest and wait on the other fellow to do our work, if we do, that work as far as we are concerned will never be done. After all to be really a great people is to fear God and keep His commandments. What we need is a conviction on morals, sanctity of the home, and righteousness."

A new millionaire row is to be built in Chicago, the city where wealth accumulates and men (at least some men) decay. It is to be more than a mere row, being virtually a subdivision. There will be room in it for but 150 homes, for each home must have a certain amount of space surrounding it. But more important still is the restriction put upon the kind of houses that buyers of the two acres lots are required to erect. Each house cost not less than $100,000.

Not so very long ago this newly planned section where great riches will be represented in architectural show was a farm. Its 300 acres were under cultivation. Its products went toward feeding the people of Chicago and no lines were drawn separating rich and poor among those who purchased what was grown on the farm. It will be the center of wealth, much of it newly acquired. It will be a fine community for poor people to avoid.

The creating of so exclusive a district will enable those Chicago rich people who have risen from the ranks and who therefore know what it means to live in congested sections and to mingle with less fortunate creatures to establish themselves where there will be less danger of being hailed by some former companions with too great familiarity. Those who have become rich in a short space of time often like to think they have risen above their old friends who still are poor, and in such a sub-division as is planned for Chicago they can have watchmen keep the rabble without the gates.

There are other districts in Chicago where less show is made of wealth than is planned in the new sub-division. In these districts are many people of many kinds. Few have more in worldly goods, than their neighbors, none has more than he needs.
 They live in big houses, and many in each house.
 There is lack of air and sunshine. The children play in the alleys and streets because no other places are available to them. In the summer little babies die because they lack fresh air and proper food. In winter all shiver because they have none of the comfortable quarters that human beings should have.

If Chicago wishes to do the really big and worthwhile thing it will give less attention to creation of centers of wealth and show, and will give more attention to changing the congested districts where many thousands exists, but cannot be said to live, into something like habitable districts. If some of the centers of poverty could be made into centers at least of comfort, cleanliness, healthful sunshine and purer air, the benefit Chicago would reap from the change, which would be represented in a healthier and happier people, would be far greater than it would derive from any number of exclusive residential districts where only those financially able to own $100,000 houses could enter.

Farmer Cannot Reach Any City Over Bad Roads

I often wonder while bounding, bumping, and bouncing over the country roads, connecting links in the great financial and commercial chain of business over our wonderful country, how the farmer ever gets into town at all. Not especially Albany-Decatur but any city in northern Alabama.

The argument comes day after day that if the roads are not repaired all the agricultural trade will go to other cities. That is where the argument is wrong, the farmer cannot get to any city without one of the most fatiguing and wearing rides he ever experienced. Paul Revere would possibly be twentyfour hours late with his "Up Up the British are Coming" if his route lay through some of our Morgan County roads.

I have heard a great deal about the repair work done on the Courtland-Decatur road recently, so blindly and innocently took this road only to find that though the road had been repaired and built up in some spots that there were other places impassible to anyone but those who go in for cross country hiking on foot. Even for them there is the danger of getting lost for in places there is not a semblance of a road. I should not be too caustic in my criticism of Morgan county for the worst section of this road lies in Lawrence county just before reaching the Colbert county line. The road from Decatur to Trinity is rough, very rough, but it can be voyaged. The Wheeler section is in very good repair.
 After leaving Courtland there is much danger of broken wheels, axles or any part that isn't built of structural steel.

It isn't worthwhile to expect people to attempt to negotiate such roads.
 After a man has labored in the field for half a day he doesn't wish to toil the remainder of the day riding over a bad road when the same tiring work can accomplish a great deal for his crop acreage at home. People engaged in agricultural pursuits are as a rule acclimated to rough weather and discomforts but they are not adapted at this time to the rough sledding that the roads offer. With their power and influence cast into the pot it is useless to believe that they ever will be.

home of her sister, Mrs. C. G. Mc-Cown 615 West High street, Lima, Ohio. Rev. Warren Steeves of the First Baptist church officiated in the presence of a few friends.

The bride wore a frock of grey and blue crepe with accessories to match, and carried brides roses and sweet peas.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs.
L. M. Roberts of Pulaski, Tenn., formerly her home, but for a short time she has been with her sister, Mrs. C.
G. McCown.

BRIDGE PARTY FOR MRS. MAHON

Mrs. Brown Mahon of Greenville, S.
C., the house guest of her sister, Miss Rosa Cartwright was honor guest at a lovely party given on Tuesday evening by Misses Flora Gardner and Lula
Garnett at the home of Miss Gardner.
A variety of garden flowers were used for decorations in the parlor and living room where the tables were arranged for the bridge game.

Mrs. Mahon was the lucky contestant at the bridge game and received the prize a bottle of toilet water.

A salad course was served after the game to the following who enjoyed this occasion: Mrs. Mahon, Mrs.
Allie Banks, Mrs. John McGehee, Mrs.
W. N. Cowden, Mrs. B. M. Bloodworth,
Mrs. A. T. Hanson, Mrs. W. J. Garnett, Mrs. Billie G. Foster, Miss Flor-

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adèle Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

What the Men on the Truck Forced Made to Do.

WITH the automatic reaction which every motorist has to a blowout, I swerved the car to the side of the road and prepared to stop the engine. Then, as a second thought came to me, I sent the car back again into the road, discarding the impulse to get out and attempt, with Mamie's help, to change the tire for the spare fastened at the rear of my car.

In the first place, the aid of the girl beside me was something I did not enlist. If she were dangerous—as Katherine had feared and I had believed just after the huge truck had passed—then I could not trust her to help me and I would not dare to relax my own watchfulness over her.

On the other hand, if Katherine and I were but the victims of inflated imaginations, I could not bring myself to the absurdity of practically changing a tire with her aid, after my melodramatic threat to use my little silencer revolver if she should move from the posture in which I had directed her to sit.

There was but one thing to be done under these circumstances, and that was to go on, trusting to luck that I might meet or pass some one who would give me a hand. So I sent the car along in the wobbly careening fashion, which only a collapsed tire can effect, while I scanned the road before me, hoping against hope that I might see someone to whom I could appeal for aid.

A Jovial Greeting.

Of course, I did not dare go nearly so fast as I had done, and as I realized that darkness was fast coming, I had hard work to keep my body rigid and my hands firmly upon the wheel. Then from the rear sounded the ear-splitting screech which only a truck siren can give. Wondering whether I would dare stop or not, I hugged the side of the road while a huge truck went lumbering by.

As I caught a glimpse of the men upon it, my heart descended to my heels and stopped there only because it could get no farther.

For the truck was the same one we had met but a little while before, and it had no sooner passed than with a quick warning gesture of the driver's hand he slowed down and then deftly swinging the huge machine half across the road so that to pass it was almost an impossible thing for me, he put on his brakes, though leaving the engine running, and with his companions jumped to the ground and came running back to our car.

I bit my lower lip in the effort to keep from screaming or fainting. Then as the men's voices sounded in jovial, friendly greeting, I wondered if I were the victim again of my own imagination.

"Hello, Mamie!" one of them called, the one to whom Mamie had waved, and the man at his side supplemented his hail by accosting me. "Look Out! She's Got a Gun!"

"What's the matter, Sister? Got a blowout? Don't you want some help?"

I was about to stammer out my thanks when Mamie squirmed like an eel out of the seat by my side and running to the man who had spoken to her began to talk to him rapidly and angrily, accompanying her words by gestures toward me which left me in no doubt as to the unfriendly nature of the tale she was telling him.

The other men cut short their advance toward the car and clustered around her. But I noticed that not

YOUR HEALTH

How to Keep Well During the Warm Weather

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN the Springtime and in the Summer there are physical temptations which do not trouble us in Winter. We are tempted to play endless sets of tennis, to walk long distances, to stay up late enjoying the balmy air. We eat quantities of ice cream and drink gallons of cold beverages.

We get very sweaty, throw off our outer garments and seek a shady spot to cool off, too rapidly probably.

We forget that too-long exposure to the sun, without protection of the head, may have its bad effects on the brain and nervous system. You may point to the farmer's long days in the fields, but you watch him! He wears a straw hat and on very hot days fills the crown of the hat with green leaves or a moist handkerchief.

At this season you do not require a hearty mid-day meal. It is a good idea for you to eat much, certainly you shouldn't if your work is light or purely mental.

Some housekeepers attempt to cool the house by closing the doors and windows. This is all right in the daytime, but don't do it in the sleeping rooms at night. You want all the fresh air you can get. Brush aside all fear of "night air." The theory that night air is harmful was exploded long ago.

Wear sensible clothes in the Summer. Things that will wash are good for men, women and children. There is nothing like the feeling of freshness which is associated with the putting on of clean clothes.

Frequent baths are demanded at all seasons, but in the Summer they are indispensable to health. The hair and the feet require unusual care in hot weather, not only for personal comfort, but for the comfort of the family and friends.

Change the shoes and stockings on coming in from the day's work. It is surprising how refreshing it is to bathe and dry the feet and to clothe them in dry apparel.

If you have no nearby swimming pool, see if you can't make one. A few hours' work will deepen a hole in the creek. It is worth all the trouble to have a place where the sweat and grime of the day may be removed.

If you can do it, take a full hour for your "nooning," spending it in some shady spot. Trust yourself as well as you would trust a team of horses or your dog. You wouldn't think of running your team or even a dog up and down the road in the blistering sun at mid-day. To spend the whole of your noon at playing tennis, baseball or some other equally violent game in the sun is quite as foolish.

Particularly in the beginning of Summer, break in gradually to unaccustomed exercise and exposure. As the season progresses you will harden and be able to do as you please.

Answers to Health Questions

J. T. Q.—What would you advise for a tooth which has grown out of place, but which is sound?

A.—What can I do to rid my face of blackheads and pimples?

A.—If it does not bother you I should suggest leaving it alone. If it damages your beauty you could see an orthodontist—a dentist specializing in regulation of the teeth.

2.—For full particulars on this subject kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

G. A. M. Q.—What can I do to relieve burning feet? My feet burn continuously. Would fallen arches cause this condition?

A.—Fallen arches might cause the condition you mention. Wear arch supporters and if they do not relieve you consult an orthopedist for an examination and treatment.

J. A. Q.—Which is the more healthful to a person with a weak stomach, whole-wheat bread or bisuits? Should any warm bread be eaten?

A.—Whole-wheat bread is the more healthful. Warm bread should not be eaten.

CLARA MORRIS WRITES ABOUT Style---The Gift

THE popular head of the department was engaged, but had whispered: "I'll be free in a few minutes."

As accident had destroyed Camille's opera cloak—that was what evening wraps were called in those days—I had to replace it quickly for that very night's wearing, and greatly desired the aid of this particular saleswoman. Waiting, I was presently startled by an angry, tear-thickened voice saying:

"There it's gone to that pudgy old woman—the newest, most original of the fashion of tomorrow. An artist's dream gown! And with Mrs. X. in it, it will not have one trace of style. She will kill it!"

"I don't know how you make that out," snapped the helper, bringing out cloaks for inspection. "A dress of highest fashion can't help being stylish—the dressmaker sees to that."

"And do you agree to this, little lady?" came in a kindly voice from behind us, and the merchant prince, proprietor, with a twinkle in his blue old eyes, shook hands pleasantly, but pressed the question and rather unamiably I made answer:

"No, sir. Sometimes a woman will put herself into the most fashionable gown Paris has sent you, and she will extinguish every lure, grace and novelty, retaining only the dollar mark of costly effort."

"And whose the fault?" sharply demanded the merchant.

A Battle of Wits

"The woman's, of course. Style is the soul of a fashion. The wearer of the gown must contribute her share in effecting a beautiful result. The poor courtiere can't provide work, fashion, air and carriage, too," I answered, and seeing him about to speak, and guessing his question, I rushed him, saying, "Sir, you are far wiser than we are. I wish you would define that word 'style'."

He saw the trick and laughed like a boy.

"Eh?" he cried. "You are canny as a Scot shifting responsibility to another, but it's such a little word 'style' and simple as—"

"Oh!" I interrupted. "If you leap at it like that, I'll add two more little words for you to define—'charm' and 'chic'."

He waved me away, saying:

"Little nuts, but hard of shell. You must give me time. Remember, I come from a sleepy town and I never start on number two until I'm quite sure of number one. Now, what difference can you find between 'fashion' and 'style'—without jesting, can you find any?"

I looked at the three salesladies who grinned broadly back at me and answered:

"Fashion, sir, is general. Style is individual."

He smiled rather mockingly. The girl who eternally brought forth and put back garments, handed me an exquisite wrap.

"This is fashion?" I asked.

"The same," was the answer. I put it suddenly across the shoulders of the girl and asked her to walk a short distance for me. The old gentleman groaned behind us. Some one said:

"Pearls before—"

I took the cloak again and turning flung it about the woman whose aid I wished. She drew the lovely folds about her, her shoulders drew back, her chin raised, her eyes dropped—she swayed slowly down the aisle—beautiful to behold! With a showman's gesture, I announced:

Clara Morris

"Style, sir! The same!"

There was laughter, quickly subdued, until the employer with mock despair cried:

"Beaten in my own bailiwick! Well, I admit that 'fashion' and 'style' are two words, absolutely divisible."

Why Not This Law

Still, I kept thinking, we should have an artistic sumptuary law forbidding the sale of an exquisite garment to an inherently bad dresser.

The perfect wearing of clothes is a gift of Nature, just as the eye for color, the ear for time and perfect pitch are gifts.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

Coax the Coy Summer Appetite with Canapes.

EARLY Summer dinners must be made tempting if the appetite is to be stimulated. Tired of Winter food, and not quite ready for the cold foods that make a hot-weather menu enticing, the flagging appetite requires distinct change in the regular order of things.

With this end in view, suppose we eliminate soup for a time and use either a cocktail of harmless ingredients or one of the many attractive canapés that are quickly and simply made.

Canapés are usually served on toasted or plain bread rounds, but this may be varied by cutting slices of a baker's loaf an inch and a half thick, trimming off crusts, then hollowing out the centers, brushing them over with melted butter and setting them in the oven long enough to color and toast delicately. The cases may be filled then with any canapé mixture and they look most attractive and alluring.

Fruit cocktails are made of seasonable fruits, mixed, slightly sweetened and dressed with a little lemon or orange juice. Occasionally, a bit of thin, spiced syrup is added. Fish, crabmeat, lobster or shrimp cocktails are made by flaking or breaking up the meat and allowing it to marinate for a few minutes in a French dressing. It is then drained and the meat is lightened by a few chopped celery leaves, a handful of finely-diced cucumber, shredded lettuce or minced peppers. Watercress, chives and a little-grated onion are frequently used.

Pineapple Fish Canapé. Flake fine, enough cold-boiled codfish or other white fish to make one cupful. Add to the fish, three-quarters of a cupful of minced, fresh pineapple or a half cupful of the grated pineapple, well drained. Add pepper, salt and enough light mayonnaise to bind the mixture. Spread it lightly on toast rounds or put it into the toast cases and garnish it with a spray of fresh cress or parsley and stuffed olives.

Sardine and Grapefruit Canapé. Free one medium-sized grapefruit from all seeds and white skin, then break the pulp into convenient sized pieces. Pour over it, three tablespoons of light French dressing and let it marinate for twenty minutes. Meantime, drain a large can of sardines from oil, remove the skin and bones, then break them into paste with a silver fork, moisten them with a little of the marinade, and spread them on the toast rounds. Drain the grapefruit and top each with a little, dusting it with paprika. Garnish each canapé with a spray of watercress. This amount makes eight canapés. The drained marinade may be set aside to dress a plate of lettuce salad. Don't waste it, as it is rich and flavorful.

Cucumber Canapés. Slice thinly, two fresh cucumbers and sprinkle them with a heavy French dressing to which the juice of an onion has been added. Let the cucumbers marinate for fifteen minutes, drain them, arrange them on toast slices, cut in squares, garnish them with olive rings and place one rolled anchovy in the center of each slice of toast.

Russian Canapé. Arrange on toast, a half cupful of caviar, a tablespoonful each of chopped onion and hard-boiled egg and a little highly-seasoned French dressing. Garnish each canapé with small pickles.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, JUNE 19.

Although the augury for this day indicates much activity and enterprise, yet there may be obstacles and delays. With the force of Mars by solar as well as lunar direction in most active operation, inclining to all manner of aggressive and adventurous moves, yet the stubborn force of Saturn may prove a milestone, blocking the pathway of progress. It may prove wise to refrain from large investments or speculations and to be on guard against trusting untold acquaintances. Change also should be avoided.

Those whose birthday it is are under a sway inclining to unusual activity and enterprise, yet these may be attended by some hazard. Also, there may be obstacles and delays of a stubborn nature. Speculation should be avoided and friends should be chosen judiciously. A child born on this day will be enterprising, courageous and ambitious, but may have many obstacles in life to overcome unless it is thoroughly trained.

Graduated Tucks Trim This Powder-Blue Frock for Afternoon Wear.

THE use of tiers which vary in width, or of tucks or bias folds which graduate from very wide to very narrow widths, marks many of the smartest frocks of the season.

The little powder-blue crepe dress shown above is typical. The tucks about the waistline are very narrow, and they gradually grow wider till they reach the hem. Tucks mark the short sleeves, and a sheer collar of white organdie finishes the neckline.

The hat is of shiny black cloth ornamented with white chenille.

WHERE MEN WEAR SPECIAL HATS TO CHURCH.

ARICA, which is located in the province of San Pedro de Tacna, is one of the largest seaports in Chile. There is little vegetation in this part of the country because of the scarcity of rain, nevertheless San Pedro de Tacna is the greatest source of Chile's wealth. It is rich in gold, silver and copper.

mines and has one of the few nitrate of soda deposits in the world. When the tourist first visits Arica he is usually surprised to find in this city all the atmosphere of the Old World. Having been told about the numerous earthquakes which at various times have almost completely destroyed Arica, he naturally expects to see a truly modern city of South America. But, in spite of the fact that Arica has been rebuilt again and again, it has retained much of the spirit of Spain.

People in Arica don't pay the high prices for Panama hats that we do. Every one—men and women, rich and poor—wears a "jipi-japas," which is the South American name for a Panama. They have been named after the village in Ecuador where these hats are said to have been first woven.

In Tacna, a town near-by, there is a beautiful cathedral—most Chileans are Roman Catholic—supposedly designed by Alexandre Gustave Eiffel, who designed the famous Eiffel Tower, in Paris. And to worship in this magnificent temple, no native of Arica or Tacna would wear so common a hat as a Panama. Men wear special hats to go to church and the women wear mantillas of

FORD BID STATUS IS GOOD—UNDERWOOD

Declaring "we are in far better condition than we have ever been" in referring to the present status of the Ford bill in a letter to a friend here, Senator O. W. Underwood gave a brief history of the events leading up to the decision of all Ford supporters to agree to a postponement of the bill's consideration until December 3 of this year.

"As soon as the McKenzie Bill (the Ford Bill) was reported to the committee of the senate I took action to try to get its consideration but I found that it was the intention of the so-called Progressive Republicans to delay any action by filibuster tactics until adjournment. Of course I voted against the motion to adjourn but that was not debatable, and when it was passed I saw clearly that the progressives could defeat our efforts to secure a vote before final adjournment. I then secured an order providing that the Ford bill should be taken up for consideration on the 3rd of December next, and that the consideration of the bill should continue before the senate until it was finally disposed of. I also secured a provision that the order must not be changed or amended except by unanimous consent, so that now we have a definite date fixed for a vote which has been impossible heretofore on account of filibuster tactics of the opposition.

"I think that we are in far better condition than we have ever been."

Board Recesses To Late In Month

The Morgan County board of revenue, sitting as a board of review on the adjusted tax list of the county has recessed until June 27, when it is said some land and personal property tax assessments left out on account by special agreement will be considered. It was stated that the bulk of the work of the board of review has been completed. A number of large property owners including James E. Penney of Birmingham, have lately protested against proposed tax assessments.

Not Built That Way.
Coal-burning kitchen ranges and candles still are made, but neither works with a valve or a switch.

Bad Luck and the Devil Pursued Him

"I don't think any one has had more bad luck and sickness than I have. In 1905 I had two ribs, an arm and collar bone broken in a railroad accident. Then I had pneumonia. After recovering I crossed a pasture when a bull chased me, tossed me over the fence and broke my right leg. In 1910 I had typhoid fever; since then severe stomach and liver trouble which no medicine or doctor touched until two years ago I got a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which proved the first ray of light in thirteen years." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. By druggists everywhere.—Advt.

How to build up your Weight

To be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus.

That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. will build them.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Harry J. Frahn Visits Old Home

The new home for aged women to be built at Pulaski, Tenn., with funds provided by the Austin Hewitt estate is expected to be ready for use by September, stated Harry J. Frahn, former local boy now head of the Harry J. Frahn firm of architects at Nashville, who drew the plans for the Hewitt Home. Mr. Frahn stated that the building was Colonial style, a two story brick and could accommodate about 25 women. Private wards, sitting rooms, parlors, maîtres, nurses quarters and all modern conveniences are provided for. The building will cost about $75,000 and will occupy one of the most desirable sites at Pulaski. Seven acres of ground surround the home. Mr. Frahn was here this week visiting relatives and in connection with plans he has prepared for remodeling the residence of H. B. Beard on Jackson street.

Mr. Beard is now seeking bids from contractors for the work of construction on his home. Face brick of the local Alabama Brick and Tile company will be used.

Mr. Frahn is also making plans for

"Life in the Open"

says President Coolidge, "is a great character builder. . . . The physical vigor, moral strength, and clean simplicity of mind of the American people can be immeasurably furthered by the properly developed opportunities for the life in the open."

And what better way to enjoy a clean, health-making, body-and-mind-developing life in the open than to
